he can render entire satisfaction to all who may give him a call.

The great point in the treatment of all human maladies, is to get at the disease in a direct manner. All medicines are estimated by their action upon the organ requiring relief,—this tathe important fact upon which Inhalation and Catheterism are based. If the Stomach is diseased we take medicines directly into the stomach; if the Lungz are diseased, breake or labels endicated vapors directly into them. The reason why Consumption and Diseases of the Chest have heretofore resisted all treatment, has been because they have not been approached in a direct manner.

If Plersenas afflicted with Chest Diseases should not delay having proper remedies used ore it is too late.
